THE UNIVERSITY OF CONNECTICUT WELCOMES YOU

As New England's top ranked public university, UConn is innovating classroom instruction, advancing academic research and scholarship, enriching the quality of student life, expanding service activities, and—most visibly—transforming facilities on its campuses. Record numbers of high-achieving students from diverse backgrounds are making the University of Connecticut their school of choice. University life includes more than 300 clubs and organizations, a full complement of intramural and club team sports, and cultural programs in the visual, literary, and performing arts. UConn is also at the center of interscholastic excitement as the home of championship Husky athletic teams.

At UConn's main campus in Storrs and at our five regional campuses across the state, world-class faculty employ state-of-the-art technologies to create remarkable teaching and research environments. What's more, UConn is the only public university in New England that has its own schools of law, medicine, dental medicine, and social work.

The University of Connecticut itself is amidst the most dramatic transformation in our distinguished history. A $2.8 billion investment is renewing, rebuilding, and enhancing our campuses, making our facilities among the nation's most attractive and technologically advanced.

Founded in 1881, UConn now encompasses 14 Schools and Colleges, and enrolls 28,500 students representing every state in the nation and more than 100 countries. As an active partner with business, government, and elementary and secondary education, UConn enhances the culture, quality of life, and economic vitality of Connecticut, the nation, and the world.
